2. UTTARAKHAND AIR CONNECTIVITY SCHEME (UACS)

2.1. Background

The civil aviation sector in Uttarakhand plays a vital role in enhancing the state's connectivity and infrastructure, owing to its unique and picturesque hilly landscape, which provides huge tourism and other economic opportunities, while also posing transportation challenges.

The capital city Dehradun's Jolly Grant Airport serves as a crucial hub connecting incoming travelers to various attractions and destinations in the State. The Pantnagar Airport, situated in Udham Singh Nagar district, provides access to prominent tourist destinations like Nainital, Jim Corbett National Park, and Ranikhet. Pithoragarh's Naini Saini Airport holds strategic importance due to its proximity to North-East Kumaon region, which boasts of immense tourism potential.

While air connectivity has witnessed significant growth in Uttarakhand, there is an urgent need to connect Dehradun and other major State airports to leading cities across the country and abroad; as well as to establish flight connections between various airports and heliports within the State. This expansion is seen as essential for attracting investments and fostering economic growth.

Selection of Helicopter Operator to Operate Helicopter Service between Dehradun and Srinagar under Uttarakhand Air Connectivity Scheme

Owing to the hilly terrain of the State, fixed-wing aircraft can operate at specific airports only. This presents a favorable scenario for helicopters to step in. Uttarakhand proudly features numerous helipads distributed across the State, playing a crucial role in establishing connectivity to remote areas. This, in turn, would unlock the full potential of Uttarakhand for Investments, tourism, business, and development, presenting abundant opportunities for economic growth and prosperity.

The introduction of the Scheme reflects the State's positive commitment to advancing Uttarakhand's air transportation infrastructure for the benefit of its residents and visitors alike. The primary objective of the Scheme, valid for both fixed wing aircraft and helicopter operations, is to expedite the provision of domestic and international air connectivity to tourist hotspots and other key locations across Uttarakhand that are currently unserved or under-served. It plans to incentivize the same by way of providing financial support to Selected Operators providing air connectivity on UACS Routes.
